Fighting, However, Continues To Rage In Spain, China

REBELS "SOFTEN" ALCANIZ DEFENSE

Japns Pound Away Along South Bank of the Grand Canal

(By Associated Press) Bloody warfare raged on in China and Spain today while the rest of the world relaxed somewhat from its recent tension.

The Spanish insurgents, having consolidated recent sweeping gains in the Aragon, started "softening" the government's new defense line in the rugged Terrain southeast of Alcaniz.

Break In One Place Aerial bombardment and infantry attacks supported by tanks broke through the government line in one place, but the defenders rallied and, temporarily at least, prevented the insurgents from driving eastward toward the Mediterranean.

In central China the Japanese pounded steadily at Chinese forces ranged along the south bank of the Grand canal. But despite their fierce offensive, the Japanese were making slow progress toward Su-chow, strategic junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways, 22 miles to the south.

Yu Cheng Siao, commander of a Chinese Communist army in north China, expressed the opinion the Japanese were nearer defeat than at any time since the war began.

While the European situation relaxed from the critical stage reached during the Austrian seizure and the Polish-Lithuanian dispute, Great Britain endeavored to formulate a foreign policy adequate to meet conditions and restore England to her historic "balance of power" position.

Cabinet sessions today and tomorrow were intended to bring about an expression of foreign policy to be presented by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to parliament Thursday.

Nazis in the tiny principality of Liechtenstein, precariously located between Austria and Switzerland, were reported in conference with Germany over establishment of closer ties between the countries. Nearly all of Liechtenstein's population is German.

Coal Purchasing Policies Upheld By Governor Davey

Declares Business Is Kept In State and Fair Price Is Paid to Miners

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, March 22.—Gov. Martin L. Davey upheld the state government's coal purchases today with the assertion that fuel was bought for prices less than those fixed by the federal coal commission and the old NRA.

Answering charges hurled at his administration by the recent senate investigating committee, the governor said in a radio address last night that while "the purpose of their (investigators') unholy procedure was to create the impression that everything about coal purchasing was immoral, illegal and reprehensible the facts are exactly the contrary."

Less Than Code Price The state purchasing department,

LABELS "CHATS" 'BALONEYCASTS'

Senator John Taylor Comments On Governor's Coal Defense

To Governor Martin L. Davey, his periodic broadcasts may be "fireside chats."

But to Senator John Taylor, recovering at his home here from a protracted illness, they're just "baloneycasts."

Taylor, a member of the state senate's graft-hunting committee, today commented on Davey's speech last night in which the governor sought to justify Ohio coal policies on the basis that it enabled operators to pay miners "fair" wages.

"The governor last night in his weekly 'baloneycast' tried to justify the state's paying an extra dollar a ton for coal. This part of the investigation was particularly important to me because it directly affected my district in which most of the coal in question was mined (Jefferson and Belmont counties)."

"It should be called to the governor's attention that the committee is not opposed to paying a fair price for coal so that the mine operators may pay the miners a fair wage."

"However, why was it necessary to pay the 'fair price' or the 'extra dollar' to political go-betweens and why did the state stop buying coal from the legitimate sales agents of the Betsy mine in Jefferson county?"

"Has it helped pay for radio and 'baloneycasts'?"

Butler To Speak At East Liverpool

Major General Smedley Butler, leader of the United States Marine Corps during the World war, will speak at a meeting sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars at East Liverpool April 15.

General Butler is scheduled to appear at Winland auditorium where he will deliver his address following a dinner at Traveler's hotel. State and national officials of the veterans organization will attend.

These include Robert Wynne of Akron, past national junior vice commander; C. F. Waterfield, Cleveland, past grand commander of the Military Order of Cooties and James Cannon, Youngstown, a member of the national administration council.

Finds Grave of Her Mother After 20,000-Mile Journey

Youngstown Woman, As Child, Separated from Parent by Death; Hunt Covers 30 States

LISBON, March 22.—An unmarked grave at the county infirmary here ended a 20,000-mile trail for a Youngstown man and his wife for Monday afternoon.

A nine-month search, covering 30 states, for the grave of the wife's mother terminated when old records revealed the burial spot at the county home. With the discovery came an obsession which had tormented the Youngstown woman for many years.

Story Begins In 1901 The story opens in 1901. At that time Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Riddle, now living in charge of the infirmary, were in charge of the admission. They had that year a woman who one day in that year a woman who had been abandoned by her husband and left destitute. Not long after her admission the inmate gave birth to a child, which died. The mother passed on a few weeks later and was buried in the cemetery lot adjoining the institution. The Youngstown woman is a daughter of the abandoned mother. The deserting father took her and he said, had paid for coal since the National Recovery Act was declared unconstitutional from nine to 20 cents a ton less than code price, and from 24 to 34 cents less than the minimum fixed by the coal commission.

Failure of the purchasing department to take bids on coal purchases, he added, resulted from a policy designed to safeguard miners' wage-levels. Previous administrations inaugurated the system, he said.

"If the state coal business were open to competitive bidding," the governor asserted, "the great bulk of it would go to low-wage and non-union coal regions outside Ohio. The state's fair-price policy does protect the wages of Ohio miners."

Davey listed four subjects which he said were developed during committee hearings and were "worthy of serious notice." They were: The testimony of Lee Bradley, now charged with perjury; the liquor department's trucking contract which under Davey's order will be modified or discontinued; the "hot mix" pavement overcharges and over-payment to the Maher-North company, coal brokers at Cleveland, on state purchases.

Basis of Suit The "hot mix" charge became the basis of a taxpayers' suit filed by Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, Columbus attorney, against state Highway Director John J. Jaster, Jr., and 20 other defendants.

Mrs. Dickinson claimed the state was over-charged between $2,000,000 and $5,000,000 in "hot mix" purchases and asked double the loss in damages.

Depositions in the case were taken at the court house yesterday until Charles S. Druggan, attorney for the Hot Mix Bituminous Industry of Ohio, Inc., objected to introduction of records brought from the highway department offices. He was upheld in his contention that an Ohio code prohibited removal of records from state offices, and the hearing was adjourned until Wednesday, when it will resume in Jaster's offices.

Governor Davey charged in his broadcast that the "hot mix" suit was instigated by an unnamed "Republican candidate for governor."

"This is fine. We welcome it most ardently and ask merely for a speedy trial," he said.

The governor's speech was the fourth of a series of Monday night addresses over an all-Ohio network.

Select 11 Jurors In Murder Hearing

LISBON, March 22.—A crowded court room continued to mark time today as judge, prosecution, and defense examined 32 veniremen in first degree murder trial in which Burl Rogers of East Liverpool is charged with participation in the slaying Dec. 25, 1935, of Clarence Dickey.

When court recessed at noon today 11 jurors had been selected tentatively. They are Charles McDaniel, Rogers; F. C. Board, East Rochester; Mrs. Harry Dill, Lisbon; Charles Cunningham, Wellsville; Mrs. Stella Alexander, East Palestine; Charles W. Horger, East Liverpool; Mrs. L. A. Farrell, Lisbon; Mrs. Leah Siler, Columbiana; D. D. Day, Wellsville; Frank Saltsman, Wellsville and Earl Ruhl of Lisbon.

Keith Liston of Fairfield township was appointed special deputy sheriff by Sheriff Harry Gosney today to serve during the course of the Burl Rogers murder trial.

Next Objectives of "Greater Germany" Drive

Next objectives of the Nazi campaign to build up a "greater Germany" are expected to be the Free City of Danzig, already Nazi-controlled, even to the extent that the swastika flies from the city hall, above, and the strategic port of Memel. Both were part of Germany before the partitioning of the Versailles treaty which made Danzig a free city and gave Memel to the newly-created state of Lithuania. Recent events indicate that Germany might have a pact with Poland "giving" the latter Lithuania in return for acceding to Germany's acquisition of the Polish corridor, Danzig and Memel.

WHEATLEY GOES TO HIGH COURT

Files Action Seeking Ouster of Engineer Lloyd C. Kirk

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Robert S. Wheatley, appointed Columbiana county engineer recently by county commissioners, filed suit in the state supreme court late yesterday to oust Lloyd C. Kirk who refused to surrender the office.

Wheatley contended in his suit that Kirk was unqualified to hold the post because he had served a full four-year term. The job has been in litigation since the November 1936 election.

Wheatley was elected over Kirk in 1936 but could not qualify for the job because he was not a registered engineer. Kirk contended he was entitled to keep the job until a successor was qualified, and the state supreme court upheld this contention.

The Columbiana county commissioners, however, declared the position vacant and appointed Wheatley on March 9, this year.

Kirk, standing on his original contention, refused to surrender the office.

Wheatley's suit yesterday argued that an office could not be held more than four years without the official having been subject to an election.

BERLIN, March 22.—Informed Nazis here and in Vienna predicted today that the new Reichstag of greater Germany would hold its first session in Vienna instead of Berlin to please the Austrians.

The Reichstag will be elected April 10. On the same date Austrians will vote on their absorption into Germany.

CLASS PRESENTS PLAY THURSDAY

Juniors Appear In "That Girl Patsy," Three-Act Comedy

The Junior class of Salem High school will present its first dramatic offering of the season Thursday and Friday nights in the play, "That Girl Patsy."

The production, a three-act comedy, will be presented each night in the High school auditorium.

The lead roles will be taken by Polly Silver as "Patsy" and Leavitt Shertzer as "Bob Warren."

Written by Sumner Nichols, the comedy centers around Patsy, a young orphan brought into the Warren family by Mrs. Warren, who is interested in charity work.

The rest of the Warrens, except Bob, resent Patsy's entrance into their home.

Bob, as the story goes, falls in love with Patsy, much to the dismay of his fiancée, Violet Manners. Complications arise, but like all other stories, everything ends well.

Others in the play are Valois Finley as Mrs. Warren; Mary Louise Emery as Miss Harper, a spinster; Eugene Neal as Professor Powers; Dorothy Milligan as Susie; Alyse MacDonald as Julia Warren; Richard Capel as Fred Cousin; Theresa Hoff as Violet Manners; Harold Fitzsimmons as Mr. Warren; Nicholas Chittles as Denny; and Robert Vickers as Philip Greer.

William Mark is in charge of the properties and Henry Pauline is general chairman in charge of arrangements. James McDonald, dramatics instructor at the High school, has been in charge of rehearsals.

FEDERAL FARM BILL OUTLINED

Township Officials Discuss Conservation Program

LISBON, March 22.—Phases of the new federal farm bill and the 1938 agricultural conservation program were explained by various speakers at a recent meeting of township committeemen held here.

The speakers included R. W. Armstrong, president of the Columbiana County Agricultural Conservation association; Chris Kainard, district supervisor; J. G. Bates and C. W. Helm, members of the county committee, and Floyd Lowrey, county extension agent.

No Compulsory Features The fact that the new farm bill has no compulsory features except the tax on excess quantities marketed when marketing quotas apply was emphasized by Armstrong.

There are no compulsory acreage limits, he said. The program is entirely voluntary insofar as it applies to Columbiana county this year.

Wheat is the only commodity on which a marketing quota could be applied in the county.

No quota on wheat can be applied unless the total supply in the U. S. reaches 35 per cent above a normal year's domestic needs plus exports, and then only when two-thirds of the growers in the United States approve the quota. It was pointed out that this procedure is in line with all other democratic

Another Move Is Recorded In Salem's "Doctor's Row"

Sale of Dr. Paul E. Barckhoff Property Recalls Interesting Facts On This Section of City

The sale by Dr. Paul E. Barckhoff of his home on South Broadway to Dr. Myron W. Riegel recalls some interesting facts about the property and others in the same block.

In 1862, in what was the incorporated village of Salem, B. F. Pennock owned approximately an acre of ground on Commerce st., now Broadway. Part of that property was the site of a planing mill and saw factory.

In 1887 this acre was divided into lots. The original owners of those lots, which faced on Broadway, were Almira G. Tabor, Warren H. Hole, Dr. Joseph L. Coffee and Mrs. C. L. Fawcett, wife of Dr. C. L. Fawcett.

The following year Dr. Coffee, a dentist, sold his property to Dr. Frank M. Clark. That piece of ground was bordered on the north by that of Mrs. Fawcett and on the south by the property of Warren H. Hole.

After purchasing the vacant lot from Dr. Coffee, Dr. Clark erected a building, suitable for his home and offices, the original plan of

Radios In School Busses Are Banned, Is State's Ruling

COLUMBUS, March 22.—Ohio's rural students will ride to school without benefit of radio if approval is given to tentative school bus specifications outlined today by Clayton D. Hutchins, state supervisor of school transportation.

"A radio in such a vehicle may tend to distract the driver's attention from his work," Hutchins asserted.

In a report based on surveys in other states, Hutchins also recommended all-metal construction, more rigid and "un-cut" chassis, governors to limit speed to 40 or 45 miles an hour, safety glass throughout, stop warning lights in front and rear, proper and uniform signs on the sides, scrapping all busses more than eight years old, and restricting passenger capacities to 70 persons.

DEBATES LOOM ON NAVY BILL

Critics See Far-Reaching Discussion On Expansion Plan

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The administration's naval expansion bill, outspoken critics indicated today, will become a vehicle for far-reaching debate on foreign policy, neutrality and national defense.

Senate opponents of the bill, which the house passed yesterday 292 to 100, are led by Senators Borah (R., Idaho) and LaFollette (Pro. Wt.).

LaFollette, calling the projected $1,000,000,000 expenditure for new ships "preposterous," criticized particularly the proposal of naval experts to develop fleets capable of defending the United States on both coasts at the same time.

Ocean "Discovered" "We seem suddenly to have discovered the Atlantic ocean," he commented.

"I always thought it was an asset from a defense standpoint, but now it seems that it is a liability—which is silly," said Senator Nye (R., N. D.) said the "big navy" bill was warlike and would call for "the most insane program that could be pursued."

Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee said, however, there was no doubt that the bill would pass in virtually the same form as it was approved by the house. He added:

"The United States hasn't any partners among the nations, doesn't want any partners. Because of that, we must be prepared to make other nations afraid to attack us. It's the cheapest kind of peace insurance."

Renews "No Alliance" Pledge Secretary Hull gave renewed emphasis to this "no alliance" attitude yesterday in a statement deploring bombardment of non-combatants by insurgent forces in Spain.

As approved by the house, the measure carried no funds for construction, but President Roosevelt has recommended that work be started on two of the three battle-ships it would authorize and on two of the nine cruisers.

The bill also would authorize 950 airplanes, two aircraft carriers, 23 destroyers, nine submarines, five destroyer tenders, three submarine tenders, 11 seaplane tenders and three repair ships.

POTTERS PLAN BOYCOTT RALLY

Invite Representatives Of Fraternal, Civic And Other Groups To Meeting Thursday

Further plans for the adoption of a program boycotting Japanese and foreign-made merchandise are expected to be outlined at a meeting in the Memorial building at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, sponsored by local No. 42 of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

Fred Shaffer, representative of the local, which includes Salem China Co., employees, announced that the meeting is for all organizations in the city, including fraternal, service clubs, civic and business groups.

The organizations cooperating in the local movement of the foreign ware boycott will receive through the mail a resolution, designed for adoption at a general meeting to be held later, Shaffer said.

The secretary also explained that the drive on the importation of foreign-made goods is designed to aid in providing more jobs for the American workers, at the same time checking the importation of cheaply manufactured Japanese products.

"Our security for good working conditions, peace and happiness," he said, "lies in the support of the 'Buy American' campaign now being waged by the N. B. O. P. and other labor groups."

GLOOMY J. L.

Possibly the British are too wrapped up in the wet blankets of their own misery right now to listen to sad tales from America. One hopes they are after reading what John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, said to them via radio the other night.

It was a black picture of the brave new world which Mr. Lewis sketched with his ponderous vocal brush. He laid the gloom on thick, then peered at it dolorously in the dim beams of a dark lantern. Perhaps he was trying to outdo Harold Ickes, his predecessor in the broadcasts which supposedly are making England better acquainted with the plight of prodigal American sons.

If things are as bad here as these two gentlemen seem eager to say they are, it's a question why they should take the trouble to tell the British about them. It's only slightly less of a question why men seemingly convinced that everything's going to pot should be tearing their fingernails and worrying out their hair in what apparently looks to them like a futile struggle against fate.

It's inability to find a satisfactory answer to the latter question which buoys up the faith of possibly more naive Americans. Surely, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Ickes, whose very jobs depend on faith that men are capable of improving their lot, must have been trying to win sympathy for the trouble they're seeing, not trying to convince the British that the colonists really did make a mess of things after all.

THE SHADOW OF A DOUBT

The shadow of a doubt concerning a navy for defense was lengthened at the close of last week. A proposal by Rep. Frank C. Kniffin of the Fifth Ohio district to withdraw the U. S. navy from China waters and confine the fleet at all times to its home bases was jumped on promptly by administrative leaders.

They defeated it by a neat piece of strategy. It was plain they considered it threatening to naval policy. What Rep. Kniffin proposed, they ruled, was not germane to the naval bill.

There can be a difference of opinion on that point. There is no question a majority of Americans believe in a strong navy. But there is a serious question that a majority of them believe in a strong navy which is going to be used to back up pressure policies against Japan in its sphere of influence.

Apparently, officials responsible for determining naval policy do not want to take congress into their confidence. They act as though they feared to tip their hand.

The fact of the matter is, they can get the kind of navy they want without tipping their hand. But the shadow of a doubt concerning what they have in mind grows longer with each new manifestation of an attitude which seems to make a mockery of what national defense means to the ordinary run of their countrymen.

INVENTIONS

Protests against a compulsory licensing bill to force patent owners to share their rights with all comers after three years indicate that new dealers must be getting to throw out the baby with the bath again.

What they want to do, apparently, is to strike at monopolies and large interests with this important proposal. What they would end up doing, however, is to hit individual inventors and small businesses below the belt.

As the law provides now, a patentee, either large or small, is entitled to 17 years' protection; experience as proved to small patentees that it is none too long a time, due to the difficulties they encounter in getting their product perfected and placing it on the market.

Yet, for the sake of going after certain large corporations, the administration is believed to have placed on its "must" list a bill which would withdraw this protection from small business and individual inventors.

Fortunately, they haven't been caught napping. When the sub-committee of the house patents committee hears what they have to say, its members probably will invent a way to forget the bill. The little fellows have an unassailable argument: If new dealers want to beat the ears off monopolies, they shouldn't begin by beating the ears off everybody else protected by laws under which monopolies have found refuge.

MEXICANIZATION

American oil companies, which were described as "surprised" by seizure of their Mexican properties, may have had access to inside information which made them feel safe.

But on the record there was no reason for them to be surprised at all. Mexico is governed by the National Revolutionary party, which has declared formally that the "ultimate aim" of the revolution is conducting is to overthrow capitalism.

If the oil companies thought "ultimate" meant some other century, they made a bad error.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, March 23.

Although the solar position might seem to presage a very definite step in the direction of putting affairs on a firm foundation, yet there are signs of difficulty and disturbance to be reckoned with in attaining such desired stability. Sudden disruption threatens, possibly precipitated by bad management, disputes or impulsive acts. By exercising prudence and restraint, there should be gain in sound investments, real possessions or other matters of old standing.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which there will be definite opportunities for stabilizing the affairs, increasing the possessions and putting the fortunes on a sound road toward success. But this advantageous prospect should not be jeopardized by rash and impulsive conduct or bad management of suddenly arising situations.

A child born on this day may have a studious and sound mentality and may attain success. However, a tendency to adventure, change, waywardness and argument may prove its undoing.

CHICKEN POX

ALTHOUGH SMALLPOX is rarely met these days, chicken pox still exists. Unfortunately for our peace of mind, during the first few days both these diseases are much alike. At the time smallpox was prevalent, chicken pox was frequently confused with it. It is probable that many persons who were believed to be victims of one disease actually suffered from the other.

Common Affliction

"Varicella", the medical name for chickenpox, is a common affliction of childhood. Although rare in adults, it sometimes attacks them. It is a mild disorder, happily, but the patient requires proper care and nursing to make sure of rapid recovery.

It is difficult to recognize the disease for a certain until the characteristic eruption appears. It should be suspected if a child complains of a severe headache and pain in the back. The youngster is usually extremely restless, refuses food and has a fever. These symptoms should serve as a warning to the parents.

The eruption shows up a short time after the appearance of these vague symptoms. The rash, more commonly called the "pocks", first appears upon the face, chest, back and abdomen. The blenishes come out in groups. Fresh ones appear daily for three or four days.

The pock ultimately dries and leaves a scab. As this grows hard there is severe itching and an intense desire to scratch. This temptation must be resisted, because if the scab is scratched off a permanent scar will result. Disfiguring marks of the face are permanent reminders of negligence in the care of the skin in this disease.

Avoid Infection

There is another danger, too, and one that must be guarded against; this is the possibility of infection. The skin under the scab may become infected by dirty fingernails carrying pus germs. Such an infection may lead to quite pronounced abscess formation. This delays recovery and, of course, causes unpleasant scars.

Since the disease is extremely contagious, children with chicken pox should not be permitted to attend school or play with other children. The little patient should be kept in bed until the rash has subsided and the temperature is normal.

Your doctor will inform you when the child can return to school. As a rule this is not permitted until all of the scabs have disappeared. Make sure that there are no scabs on the scalp hidden by the hair. This location is frequently over-

During the illness the food should be simple and nutritious. Give abundant amounts of fluids.

Get at the Cause of Constipation!

You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, sunken, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause and fix it? If you eat what most people do—things like bread, meat and potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines that aids elimination. If this is your trouble, what you need is a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need, plus Nature's intestinal tonic vitamin B₁, and iron. Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a lot brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

HAPSBURG REIGN REVIEWED AS REICH TAKES AUSTRIA

NEW YORK—Annexation of Austria by the third German Reich climaxes a long and colorful history of a state which once reigned supreme in Europe and whose mighty rulers, the Hapsburgs, once headed the far flung Holy Roman empire.

When the proclamation was issued at Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's order decreeing the end of Austria as a sovereign state, that pronouncement wrote finis to a nation which traces its beginnings back almost exactly 2,000 years to the time when Celtic people settled in the section south of the Danube. Roman legions brought about their downfall and subjugation in 14 B. C. and the sector was made a province with the ancient city which later became Vienna as its capital.

Austria Comes of Age
Successful waves of invaders swept over the country during the next five centuries until the mighty Charlemagne took over the section, colonized it with settlers from Bavaria and appointed a margrave as deputy ruler.

With the decline of the Franks, the fortunes of Hungary came into the ascendancy and they ruled until Emperor Otto II reconquered the province and brought it again into the Holy Roman empire where it remained for the next three centuries.

In 1278 Rudolph of Hapsburg acquired Austria as part of the Holy Roman empire and conferred the duchy of Austria on his son Albert. This was the real beginning of the Hapsburg rule in Austria, the beginning of a simultaneous growth in power for Austria and the Hapsburgs which made their house the most powerful in Europe by 1500.

Napoleon Spelled Ruin

Napoleon's figure threw the house of Hapsburg into the shadow, however, and formation of the Confederation of the Rhine, together with the Austrian defeat by Napoleon and the battle of Austerlitz, forced Francis, grandson of Maria Theresa, to renounce the title of Holy Roman emperor, a title which his family had held for nearly 500 years.

During the period following Napoleon's downfall, when the restoration was in progress, Austria regained much of its power and prestige, especially under the wily tutelage of Prince Metternich. His policy had been a reactionary one, however, and the dissatisfaction which had been brewing broke into open rebellion about the time that Franz Joseph ascended the throne in December of 1848.

The dual monarchy of Austro-Hungary which existed until the downfall of the Hapsburgs in 1918 was formed in 1868 when the demands of Hungary secured her restoration of her constitutional liberties and a voice in the joint government of the two countries.

Downfall of Hapsburgs

Suicide of Archduke Rudolph over a tragic love affair, as told in "Mayerling," and the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand at Sarajevo, the spark which touched off the world war, were contributing factors in the final downfall of the Hapsburgs. Their golden age came to an end with the death of Franz Joseph in 1916 after a rule of 68 years.

He was succeeded by Charles VII who renounced the throne and paved the way for Austria to become a republic in 1918. At the same time Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia were created. His son, Archduke Otto, pretender to the non-existent throne, now appears fated to become permanently one of Europe's crownless kings.

"EXTRA FARE" by Edna Robt Webster

SYNOPSIS

Jaxie Cameron, fair young newspaper columnist, travels west aboard the Big Chief, extra-fare train, in search of copy for the Str-Tribune. Tommy Ackerman, staff photographer, sees her off, taking a flashlight picture as Jaxie waves farewell from the observation platform. Inside Car 74X, Mose the porter, has installed those who are to be fellow travelers in the swift trip to the Coast. Jaxie identifies a bride and groom and notices a beautiful girl who is probably on her way to Hollywood. Carrie Dade, a tired looking mother with two small children, awakens Jaxie's sympathy. Slim, grumpy, and humorous Mose, the porter, pacifies Mrs. Sanders, a demanding old woman who shares Section 6 with Elliott, and explains some travel details to Jake Weatherby, gaunt mid-western farmer unused to luxury trains. An unassuming little man in khaki sits reading. When the Dade babies grow fretful, Jaxie provides a drawingroom for their comfort. Mary, the bride, wishes she and Husband Harry had taken one also. Finally all the passengers are settled for the night, but not all of them to sleep. Kirby Elliott, in his upper berth, remembers Jaxie's brown eyes, etc. And Clarice Cole, recently a waitress in a Chicago restaurant, wonders what she will find in Hollywood.

CHAPTER VII

Here she was; smart clothes that the salesgirl had declared to be copies of exclusive Paris models, shining new patent-leather bag and dressing case monogrammed in gold-leaf, lower berth in the car next to the observation car, on an extra-fare train, and bound for Hollywood. Clarice's first, and most valued, a drawingroom, but a latent spark of caution restrained her; so she took an extra-fare train instead, persisted until she obtained a lower berth in the car next to the observation, and let it go at that. All the cinema stars crossed the continent on extra-fare trains; she would consider nothing less. Besides, only the best people traveled on such trains, and this would provide her an added opportunity to meet and mingle with the right people. Furthermore, she was on a hunting trip, so it was just as well not to conceal herself in a private room. That would come after, when she was the one sought by others, and not the seeker.

Her confidence had received a severe jolt when she first had entered the car and looked covertly at her traveling companion across the aisle. Almost she had exclaimed aloud in her consternation. "Khaki bags and tools and a little old whiskered man. Well, that's good, that is! Just imagine paying ten dollars to sit across the aisle from that!" She made a ritual of preparing for the night, making no less than a dozen trips to and from the dressingroom. Her next regret was that she had not known which end of the car would be reserved for women. Much of the effect of her scarlet satin pajamas and maribou-trimmed robe were lost in her sudden vanishing into the dim corridor; whereas, a hurried, swaying passage through the length of the car might have attracted profitable attention. Still, even the dim corridor held its possibilities for chance encounters with people passing through to the club car.

Also, her waning enthusiasm for extra-fare trains had climbed again with the last-minute arrival of the occupant of lower 3 who adjusted himself and his possessions with the detached air of the habitual traveler. His alert gray eyes appraised the other occupants of the car with a casual glance, hesitated and lighted momentarily as they met Clarice's blue and interested ones; and then he became occupied with the inspection of various papers which he took from the inner pocket of his correct tweed coat. Clarice noted the slim, well-groomed hands which obviously never had toiled... the sleek black hair that testified to tranquil, splendid living; the atmosphere of importance which surrounded him—and decided that her reservation was worth the extra ten dollars after all.

The handsome gentleman in number 3 remained aloof from his fellow passengers.

She also had noted that there was feminine competition in section 5, occupied by the attractive girl who had been photographed on the rear platform. "She's not so hot," Clarice decided. "But I wonder who she is? It might pay to be nice to her." Clarice wasted nothing—her time, her graciousness, her interests, her affections—all were reinvested in Clarice. She figured that no other investment could pay such attractive dividends in the long run.

As for the handsome gentleman in number 3, upon whom Clarice's interest had focused, he remained aloof from his fellow passengers, absorbed in his own affairs, which apparently were of considerable importance. His reasons for traveling extra fare were as enigmatic as himself and no one of his companions could have ventured a guess and won, with the possible exception of the debonair young man whose six-foot length was folded into up-tions so that he and his wife might travel in the utmost comfort; and Jake had acquiesced meekly, paid the total reckoning and departed with a sigh of profound relief. The confusion of time tables, trains that were designated by alluring names and the system of allocating reservations so that everyone belonged where he should be, Jake happily left to the glib young agent who appeared to know all about it.

His previous experience as a traveler had been limited to his annual trips to Chicago with a carload of stock. And what a vast difference between those trips and this one. A group of his neighbors usually traveled with him, each of them having a carload of stock on the freight train, of which they rode in the caboose!

Slow, tedious, uncomfortable miles. Stops at every station and junction. Long waits. Monotonous switching when they dropped empty cars or took on more loaded ones. Jerking to and fro, dim lights, quick lunches snatched at station restaurants. The freight might stand for half a day on the siding but when it went—it was gone. Lou had to be there if you wanted to go with it.

You wore the same clothes day and night for a week, perhaps. Slept on bare leather bunks along the side of the caboose. Finally the Chicago stockyards, more tedious delays, bickering with buyers, weighing stock.

Jake always had taken the first train back home after he had disposed of the stock and had the roll of cash in his pocket. He had been in Chicago at least a dozen times in his life, but his knowledge of the city was confined strictly to the stockyards and the railroad station. He had no use for cities with their evil contraptions—which he did not trust for a minute—with their odors and crimes and temptations. He could not return too quickly to the vast expanses and clean beauty of his rolling acres where he was monarch of all he surveyed.

With the roll of money which would amount to a fortune to many people tucked carefully into his trousers pocket and secured there with a good stout safety pin which Martha had cautiously provided, he returned home in the red-plush-seated day coach of a local train, to him a palace of luxury compared with the freight caboose. Why, he could drop the back of one of those funny seats by the turn of a lever and recline on its cushioned length, his hat tilted over his face to shade his eyes, and sleep almost as comfortably as if he were at home. Of course, it was smoky and noisy, but it took only ten hours to get home. That kind of travel was good enough for him, or for anyone.

But the agent in the Chicago office had assured him that there were no such convenient chair cars on the trains to the coast, and that he had to sleep in a bed. All tomfoolery, to his way of thinking. Three nights' sleep in a plush chair was a snap compared with a week on a caboose wasn't it?

A feature of the entertainment was a delightful review of the book, "This Life I've Loved," by Isabel Field. Miss Ora Vincent sang two numbers, opening the musical program. Her selections were "Heart's Ease" and "The End of a Perfect Day." She was accompanied by Miss Frances May Vincent.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Taylor entertained with two piano duets.

Lunch was served after the meeting, with Mrs. George Votaw and Mrs. Ada Hawkins presiding at the attractively appointed table. A silver tree and yellow tapers in crystal holders decorated the table. Miniature replicas of the tree centerpiece were presented the club members as favors.

Latest of Mrs. F. D. R.

This unusual expression picture of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was taken in Los Angeles where she was interviewed on the world situation. Mrs. Roosevelt spoke in opposition to war but declared the American "big navy" program is "intended for defense."

CONGRESS MAY ACT ON MORGAN

Refuses to Sign or Re-tract Charges Against Co-Directors

It appeared certain he would participate in any congressional investigation, for he has said repeatedly that was the only way to show up conditions in the TVA accurately.

Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.), who had insisted on a senatorial inquiry, agreed today to joint action by senate and house, provided the anti-TVA activities of the power companies also are studied.

Yesterday's meeting between Mr. Roosevelt and the three TVA directors was called after Morgan twice had refused to substantiate his accusations against the other two board members.

Lilienthal and H. A. Morgan had previously given testimony in support of their counter-charges that Chairman Morgan had obstructed TVA activities.

Declines to Speak

Morgan declined once more to speak. Then the President said these blunt words of the man whom he had described only a few minutes before as a "very old friend":

"Arthur E. Morgan has failed to sustain the grave and libelous charges of dishonesty and want of integrity which he has made against his fellow directors; his conduct in this respect is legally and morally unjustified."

"On the face of the record, the charges of the other directors that Arthur E. Morgan has obstructed the work and injured the morale of the organization of the Tennessee Valley Authority must be accepted as true; he has refused to offer testimony in denial of the charges."

"Arthur E. Morgan is guilty of insubordination and contumacy in refusing to submit to the chief executive's demand for any facts upon which he based charges of dishonesty and want of integrity on the part of his fellow directors."

Unless he resigned or withdrew his charges, the President told Morgan, "only two courses appear open—either your removal or your suspension as a member of the board of the Tennessee Valley Authority."

Morgan replied: "Mr. President, I deny the accuracy and the adequacy and representativeness of the statement you made. I have no other statements to make here now except these:

"It is my judgment that my resignation at this time would not be in the public interest. Therefore, I do not tender my resignation. I wish also to say that I challenge the suggestion and deny the right and the power to remove or to suspend me."

School Hears Talk By Noted Traveler

Richard Halliburton, world traveler and author, unfolded interesting experiences while in India when he addressed Salem High school students at an assembly Monday morning in the High school auditorium.

The pupils were held spellbound while the visitor talked to them for an hour. Halliburton arrived here from Philadelphia and later left for Akron. The majority of the students, Principal Williams said, considered Halliburton one of the best speakers to appear at the school this term. He signed autographs for many of the pupils.

The High school pupils this morning witnessed movies of military life at Culver academy, shown by an officer of the school.

"Scrambling Folks" Will Stress Safety

The Scrambling Folks of Scabble club met last Friday at Center school with President Marie Kastenhuber in charge. George Enders and Irene Schmidt were appointed to have charge of the program on safety at the next meeting.

The topic on health was presented by Miss Kloos, advisor, in the absence of Richard Jordan, also a member of that committee.

McCulloch Employees Have Dinner

Girls employed in the McCulloch store enjoyed a spaghetti dinner last evening at DeRienzo's restaurant, South Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntley Pierce have moved to 437 East Fourth st., from North Ellsworth ave.

Theater Attractions

Joan Bennett and Henry Fonda, stars of "I Met My Love Again," at the State theater on a double bill Wednesday and Thursday.

Wednesday and Thursday programs at the State and Grand theaters list double bills for both.

At the State are "I Met My Love Again," with Joan Bennett and Henry Fonda, and "Beg, Borrow or Steal," with Frank Morgan, Florence Rice and John Beal.

"I Met My Love Again" is a story of young romance, rudely shattered, achieving final reconciliation after time and bitter experience have brought almost insurmountable obstacles.

The cast includes Dame May Whitty, Alan Marshal, Louise Platt, Alan Baxter and Tim Holt.

Just a Bluffer

The second film is a comedy of an American bunco-steerer in Paris, who promotes a chateau on the French Riviera to carry out a bluff with his family in America and to give his daughter a wedding in the manner in which she is not accustomed.

Concluding at the State tonight is "Big Broadcast of 1938," featuring W. C. Fields, Dorothy Lamour, Martha Raye, Lief Erickson, Bob Hope, Lynne Overman, Rufe Davis, Grace Bradley, Kirsten Flagstad and many others.

Wyn Cahoon and Scott Colton have the leading roles in the Number 1 feature, "Women in Prison," at the Grand. Mayo Melton, in the role of a gangster's moll, runs away with the haul of a bank robbery and gets herself put in prison to escape vengeance of the gangsters. To force the woman warden to place the woman on parole, the gangsters frame the warden's daughter and send her to prison. The two women form a friendship and the girl finally succeeds in clearing her own name and restoring the loot to the bank.

"Double Danger" with Preston Foster and Whitney Bourne in romantic leads, is offered as the second picture at the Grand Wednesday and Thursday.

The plot of the story deals with the ingenious schemes of two society criminals vying with the equally ingenious plan of a police commissioner to trap one of them.

Foreign Contacts Barred By Soviet

MOSCOW, March 22.—An apparent effort to insulate the Soviet regime from foreign contacts was believed by some foreigners here today to be a reason for a current roundup of Soviet citizens.

For the past few days, Russian secret police and uniformed policemen have been questioning all Russians leaving the American embassy. Some were reported taken into custody.

At least three Russian employees of American concerns have vanished in recent months.

Miss Valentina Snigirevskaya, secretary in the Moscow office of the New York Times, is believed to be the latest victim.

She was arrested during the recently concluded treason trial of 21 once-high Soviet leaders. She had acted as translator for American and English newspapers at the trial.

Charges against her could not be ascertained.

Kohlerizing Adds Months of Wear to Garments . . SAVES MONEY

These things are proven every day, by thousands of people who have compared it with ordinary cleaning methods. Here is the reason: Kohlerizing is really a double process. First, garments are clinically cleaned. Then they are thoroughly saturated with a solution that restores the body, life, luster and newness to garments. Garments thus hold the style, fit and color longer and require less frequent cleansing and pressing. Test these statements for yourself — send one or more garments tomorrow.

Europe's Practices Attacked By Bishop

LONDON, March 22.—The Anglican (Episcopal) church bishop of Chelmsford declares that Europe is more savage than in 1,000 years and that such civilization is "not worth preserving."
Writing in the diocesan chronicle, Dr. Henry A. Wilson observes that "a civilization which can give birth to shameful persecution of Jews," and to "lying dishonesty which make mock of treaties and agreements is a civilization not worth preserving. It won't require a war to kill it; it is dying, if not already dead in more than one European country."

MEXICAN BOARD OPERATES OIL

Representatives of Government and Labor Take Over Control of Industry
MEXICO CITY, March 22.—A petroleum board jointly representing the Cardenas government and labor have ventured into operation of Mexico's nationalized oil industry.
The board assumed responsibility for producing gasoline and other crude oil products to supply the country's needs on the same scale as when the oil industry was controlled by 17 British and American companies.
The problem of maintaining foreign markets loomed large on the changing Mexican economic horizon as President Lazaro Cardenas' socialistic government and its union allies undertook operation of the industry.
The petroleum board was organized with representatives of the treasury department, secretary of national economy and the oil workers' syndicate.
A two-year controversy between foreign oil companies and the industry's 18,000 union laborers brought about nationalization of the industry under a presidential decree last Friday.

The companies, already paying their workers the highest wages in Mexico, had protested they were unable to continue operation if they met increases granted by an arbitral board and approved by the supreme court.
The public was assured the price of gasoline would not be increased.

G. O. P. Is Aiming At 113 Districts

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Discussions of Republican efforts to wrest a sizable bloc of house seats from Democrats in the November election said today they were concentrating on 113 congressional districts, principally in northern and eastern states.

Lawrence Sullivan, secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said that in 52 of these districts Republicans got within 5 per cent of enough votes to win in 1936. In 61 districts, he said, they polled within 10 per cent of the winner's total.
Republicans now have 90 house seats, the smallest number in recent years. The Democrats have 327.
Sullivan declared that key men in the Republican organization foresaw a possibility of picking up four seats in New Jersey, three in Iowa, four or five in New England, one in Delaware, one in New York, one in Nebraska, two or three in California, four or five in Indiana, eight in Pennsylvania and seven in Ohio.

HENRICH LOOKS GOOD IN RIGHT FIELD POSITION

Shows Up Well for Joe McCarthy; Camilli Ready to Play

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—Tommy Henrich is making Joe McCarthy look very good these days. There were some doubts as to whether the New York Yankees manager had guessed right when he gave Tommy the right-field job made famous by Babe Ruth, but in yesterday's game with Cincinnati Henrich cut off a runner heading for third with a fine throw, made a spectacular catch of a short fly and hit two singles.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Although he probably won't play against the New York Yankees today, Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn first baseman who came to terms only yesterday, says he'll be ready to play soon. "I'll play any minute Barthelemy Grimes says to get in," he remarked.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Johnny Vander Meer has Manager Bill McKee and the Cincinnati Reds' coaches guessing. McKee insists the youngster is a potential fireball king, if he could get Johnny to control the ball with an overhand swing. Vander Meer complains this makes his arm sore and fails to follow the manager's advice.

BRADENTON, Fla.—The Dean brothers' winter home had something of a holiday as Me and Paul went up against the Boston Bees today. Stores and offices were closed for "Dixie Day" in which the hurling brothers were to get their first real test since Paul reported there were no more twinges in his salary arm and Dizzy recovered from a severe cold.

NEW ORLEANS — Oscar Vitt, Cleveland's manager, seems to think his charges are in pretty good shape. He went fishing yesterday, leaving Coaches Wally Schang and Johnny Bassler to conduct a light practice.

SAN FRANCISCO — Pie Traynor, Pittsburgh's pilot, was highly pleased with the hurling of Marvin Duke as the Bucs came here to start a series of a half dozen exhibition games. Duke gave only one hit in three innings against the Chicago Cubs yesterday, the best showing of any Pirate flinger so far.

NO ENTRY LIMIT IN PIN TOURNAMENT

Juergens Explains That Bowlers May Compete Several Times

In reply to numerous queries, it was announced today that bowlers may compete as many times as they like in the Masonic temple headpin tournament which is now in progress at the temple alleys.

This fact was made clear by W. H. Juergens, director of the tourney and secretary of the Salem Bowling association, who explained rules provide that bowlers are allowed as many entries as they want, but one bowler can not win more than three prizes.

The explanation by Juergens was prompted by the fact that several bowlers were under the impression that the number of entries they could make was restricted.

Harry Calladine is the current leader in the tourney with a score of 320. The tournament continues until April 30.

THIRD AMATEUR SHOW PLANNED

Jimmy Perry Schedules Boxing Program For Friday, April 8

The third amateur boxing show of the indoor season here will be held Friday night, April 8, at the Memorial building, Jimmy Perry, promoter, announced today.

The coming show will include eight bouts, each of which will feature a fighter from Perry's Athletic club. Alliance amateurs are expected to serve as opponents in several of the bouts.

Perry is now working on the card which he plans to have completed in several days.

Two of Perry's smallest boys, the Quinn brothers, Leonard and Frank, will appear in an exhibition bout at Alliance Friday night. Both of the Quinns weigh less than 100 pounds.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX PREPARED TO DO BATTLE

Off to Late Start, Team Promises to Hit Top Stride Soon

PASADENA, Calif., March 22.—The Chicago White Sox, who serve those bitter pills the Cubs have to swallow before and after each regular meal of the baseball season, are off to a late start this year but promise to repeat the dose as soon as they hit their stride.

More important, the Sox, aided by the prospects of heavier hitting, hope to administer generously these pills of defeat to members of their own circuit, the American League.

Manager Jimmie Dykes has spared not a sunny day whipping the Sox into shape and issued his annual ultimatum that the Pale Hose "will be in there fighting in the first division this year."

To date the Sox have dropped exhibition games to their rivals from Chicago, the Cubs, as well as to Pittsburgh and Los Angeles, but Dykes is not worried about these early spring setbacks.

Dykes, with the trading of Zeke Bonura for Joe Kohl, stands to emerge as a goat or a hero during the coming campaign. If the ex-Washington first baseman fields as well as Jimmie expects and hits as well in the pinches as Jimmie predicts, the loss of big Bonura may not be felt so much as some of Dykes' critics forecast.

Prior to the Bonura trade, Dykes did not like to be quoted on Zeke's holdout, an unusual custom, but it wasn't hard to translate his lip movements when the New Orleans Italians' name was mentioned.

Dykes, from all indications, plans to stand pat on virtually the same pitching staff, which was rated the second best in the league last year. Th. hurriers, after being held up in training by California's recent rain, are rounding into shape.

Even long John Whitehead, the non-talkative one, is down to a mere 205 or so.

A chance for a paying future in organized baseball lay ahead today for Wally Davis, 17-year-old Salem High school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Davis of East Pershing st.

The opportunity which awaits the Salem youngster is a tryout with a minor league club, a possible contract and a future in major league baseball.

Davis, who displayed extraordinary pitching talent with Joe Kelley's American Legion Junior team last summer, will leave April 1 for Johnstown, Pa., where he will work out for two weeks with the Johnstown club of Mid-Atlantic league.

Charles H. Carey, No. 56, American Legion, voted last night to pay the expenses of his protégé while he is in training with Johnstown, a farm club of the St. Louis Browns of the American league. The Johnstown club will pay the youth's traveling expenses. Davis attracted considerable attention last summer when he pitched a no-hit game for Kelley's Junior Legion outfit. He fanned 18 batters in turning in his "no-hitter."

Throughout the 1937 season, Davis showed exceptional talent for a 16-year-old player. He lacked polish in his pitching, but a blazing fast ball enabled him to set down opposing batsmen.

UNKNOWN TOP BOWLING MEET

St. Louis Keglers Show Up Well In A. B. C. Tournament

CHICAGO, March 22.—As far as it has gone, the 38th annual American Bowling Congress has been no respecter of persons. The acknowledged stars have had a rough time of it during the 20 days of competition.

Two comparative unknowns, Knute Anderson of Moline, Ill., and Don Beatty of Jackson, Mich., have nailed their names most firmly on the standings board.

St. Louis' invasion of the coliseum ended yesterday and the Mound City bowlers went home with a big share of the pay positions.

Crisis Between Poland, Lithuania Still Acute

Despite the fact that Lithuania capitulated to Poland's ultimatum demanding resumption of diplomatic relations between countries and surrender of any claim to Vilna, which Poland seized from Lithuania in 1920, the situation still remains acute. Polish troops are massed at the border near Vilna. Feeling runs high in Lithuania because of indignation over the humiliation suffered from being forced to bow to Poland's demands and the government is in a precarious state, two members of the cabinet having resigned. Key man in the picture, should hostilities break out, would be Gen. Stasys Dirmanas, Lithuanian minister of defense. Some foresee the eventual annexation of Lithuania by Poland because the latter looks covetously to the Baltic seacoast of her small neighbor, realizing that Germany may soon annex Polish corridor, only outlet to the sea now possessed by Poland.

have housed physicians throughout the years.

The brick house on the southeast corner of Pershing st. and South Broadway, where the Palais Royal restaurant is now located, was occupied at one time by Dr. Liburn Coffee, dentist, for a number of years.

Dr. Coffee was followed by Dr. E. J. Schwartz, a city health commissioner, who later became Ohio state health commissioner. Subsequently Dr. Schwartz went to Florida where he served as state health officer, going later to Washington, D. C. There he was appointed assistant United States health commissioner. He held that position until two years ago.

When Dr. Schwartz moved from the property, Dr. J. S. Gallagher took it over. On the opposite corner of Broadway and East Pershing, the present Frank Webber property, was located the office of Dr. W. J. Blackburn, who, retired, now lives on Newarden ave. In the same location at a later date, Dr. O. A. Rhodes had his office. He purchased the property from Dr. Alex Cruikshank who had his office there for several years.

Two houses below the corner, on the west side of Broadway, Dr. F. T. Miles maintained offices and resided. His widow is the present occupant. Also in the same block, three houses below the Miles house, is that of Dr. R. E. Smucker. Dr. Smucker has had his office in the same building for the last 20 years.

procedures in the American government.

The only two requirements for full payment for those who wish to participate in the 1938 agricultural conservation program are to keep the acreage of soil depleting crops within the soil depleting allotment and use the soil conserving practices necessary to meet the soil building goal. It was pointed out in the meeting that the new law protects the consumer by deducting payments from the participating farmers who allow their acreages of food crops, such as wheat, to fall below a certain percentage of their allotments.

Use Home Grown Seed

Heim emphasized the importance of using clover and alfalfa seed grown in the northern states or in Canada. Seed from European countries is not adapted seed and the seed of such will not be accepted as a practice for payment, he said. In the discussion that followed this statement it was pointed out that on the average European seed will not yield as well as native seed. Because of a much lower price, large quantities of European seed are being sold this spring, but the use of such seed will not qualify for payment in connection with the program. Farmers were urged to have the place of origin written on their clover seed receipts by the dealers when they purchase seed.

The entire day was devoted to a discussion of the various details of the 1938 program. Goals and allotments for individual farms will be ready for announcement within a few weeks. Kainrad explained that the delay in getting these goals to the farmers was caused by the delay of Congress in passing the legislation.

Guilford Grangers Plan Entertainment

Guilford grange met at the hall Saturday evening, when plans for an entertainment by J. B. Morris, magician, at the April 2 meeting were completed.

Camilla Baker and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rhodes were proposed for membership. Final arrangements for a coverdish supper and quilt benefit for March 31 were made.

Applications of Helen, Garna and Mary Abernethy, James Rhodes, Jr., Junior and Robert Baker for membership were received during Saturday night's meeting of Guilford juvenile grange.

Lawrence Hoffman, master, appointed an investigating committee as follows: Mildred Hall, Mary Louise Mason and Edith Sell.

Miss Lorena Arter, matron, read a chapter from the book, "Susanah." Plans were made for a hike to Tegarden Saturday afternoon, March 26, for a wiener roast. Contests and games were in charge of Alda Raley.

At the next meeting on April 2, Frances and Robert Coppock will be in charge of the program.

which the abandoned wife was admitted, telling her eager listeners she was brought to the home by the Liverpool township trustees 37 years ago, recalling details of the funeral.

The Youngstown woman asked how her mother was dressed when she was buried. Mrs. Riddle was able to satisfy this pathetic inquiry by assuring the daughter the dead mother had worn the best the county could provide for her. When they were assured that the remains had been enclosed in a casket, the wife said she was satisfied.

Destruction by time and the elements of the older markers in the cemetery prevented identification of the exact grave. But the bereaved daughter, her mind composed at last, left feeling, she said, as if a mill stone had been lifted from her neck.
